Notes for Thomas Abbe I:

From Find-A-Grave.com notes:

From the book published in 1916 "Abbe -Abbey Genealogy In Memory of John Abbe and his Descendants" by Cleveland Abbe and Joseph Genung Nichols

THOMAS ABBE, son of John and Mary ( ) Abbe, born probably in Wenham, Mass., about 1650 to 1656; died in Enfield, Conn., May 17, 1728. He was a witness to a deed made by his father conveying property to his brother Samuel, March 29, 1675. At first he took care of his parents and lived on the homestead, but about 1683 some complaint was made by his father who then turned him away and had his son John assume the charge of the place for himself and his aged wife. Thomas doubtless went immediately to Enfield, Conn., as he was one of the original proprietors of that town in 1683, with the 11th lot, east side, north of the south corner as his home lot. He at once became one of the prominent men of the settlement and is mentioned frequently on the records of Enfield : selectman in 1686, 1689, 1706, 1707, 1709, 1710 ; fence viewer repeatedly; assessor in 1705. He was administrator of his father's estate in 1703, and made his father-in-law, Walter Fairfield of Wenham, his attorney. There are several documents in the files at Essex pertaining to a lawsuit arising out of this. The case is that of Thomas Abbey of Enfield vs. Peter Legro of Wenham for trespass and the defendant is allowed to substitute his landlord as the defendant. So the case really is vs. Nathaniel Waldron, who held the lands formerly belonging to John Abbe, senior, and by him given to his son John, who in 1696 sold to Waldron. Some of these papers help prove various relationships and distinctly call Thomas of Enfield the son of the older John of Wenham.

Thomas Abbe was active in the military life of the day. He was a soldier in King Philip's War and was wounded at the Great Swamp Fight. He was sergeant in 1711 and lieutenant of the Enfield Trained Band in 1713. Upon the organization of the army for the expedition against Narragansett Fort, Major Samuel Appleton was appointed to the command of the Massachusetts forces and on a list of the soldiers whom the Court, in May, 1676, voted to repay for losses of those who were "damnified" by the burning of Major Appleton 's tent at Narragansett, appears the name of Thomas Abbe, £3, s.16. His name is also on the roll of Major Appleton 's Company in the Narragansett Campaign. Thomas Abbe's will, made December 12, 1726, probated August 30, 1728, mentions the following: wife Sarah; son Thomas, executor and to inherit the homestead and 57 acres; son John, to inherit land at Scantic Bridge; daughters Sarah Geer and Tabitha Warner to have the cattle. Witnesses were Obadiah Abbee, John Pease, jr., and Joseph Sexton. He styles himself Thomas, senior, a husbandman.

Thomas Abbe married at Marblehead, Mass., December 16, 1683, SARAH FAIRFIELD, born December 24, 1655, at Reading, Mass; died in Enfield, Conn., November 27, 1742. She was the daughter of Walter and Sarah (Skipper) Fairfield, and had previously been married to Needham. The Wenham records give this record of the marriage, "Thomas Abby and Sarah Fairfield of Wenham were married the 17th day of December, 1683, being lawfully published with the consent of her parents Walter Fairfield, and his witness with Moses Maverick and Elizabeth Fairfield." The marriage is recorded in both Marblehead and Wenham.

Walter Fairfield was son of John and Elizabeth ( ) Fairfield, who came to America in 1638. According to tradition he sprang from the Huguenot Beauchamp family that left France for England shortly before St. Bartholomew's Day.

JOHN ABBE, son of Samuel Abbe and Mary (Knowlton) Abbe, born in Salem Village, Mass., June 4, 1692; died in East Hartford, Conn., October 30, 1790.

He was a resident of Hartford as early as 1710 or 1713.

John Abbe, resident at Hartford, sold to his brother Ebenezer, land formerly belonging to their father, Samuel Abbe, of Windham, October 29, 1713. (Windham Deeds, Liber D, page 328.)

March 12, 1718, he purchased from Benjamin Hills of Hartford, 8 acres on the "east side of the Great River," There were several John Abbes living at this period so that it is sometimes hard to tell which one is meant, but the following records seem to pertain to this one, March 3, 1731, he joined with several others in giving a deed to the Town of Hartford for a highway which was later known as Silver Lane and on which his house stood, (Hartford Deeds, Vols, 5, page 307, and 3, page 164.)

John Abbe of East Hartford was one of the inhabitants of that town to protest against a tax in 1769; signed a paper with others regarding their desire to settle in what was known as "Western town" in 1733; was a proprietor in the Western land and signed a Tolland petition, (Connecticut State Archives, State Library, Towns and Lands, IX, 278b, with his autograph, V, 238e, V, 23b, and VII, 13.)

Deeds made by him were recorded in Hartford, 1736, 1738, 1748, 1754, 1759, 1765, and 1770. The most important of these is that of January 15, 1759 (Hartford Deeds, 13, page 37), by which he conveys land to his son Nehemiah Abbe of Hartford. The name is spelled in various ways on the early records.

Abbe, Abby and Abbey, but the latter seems to have been in most frequent use among the later descendants of his family. Married HANNAH

Children:

- 1 - John Abbey, jr., m. Ruth Goodwin.
- 2 - Stephen Abbey, b. about 1727; m. Mary (or Marah) .
- 3 - Eleazer Abbey, m. Mary .
- 4 - Nehemiah Abbey, m. Mabel Warren.
- 5 - Naomi Abbey.
- 6 - Sarah Abbey. These last two names are included in this list of children for the following reason. In a deed recorded in Hartford, Oct. 26, 1759 (Volume 9, page 559), John Abbe, junr., Solomon Hills and Sarah, his wife, and Naomi Abbe convey land in Hartford to George and John Buck of Wethersfield.

ZERVIAH ABBE, daughter of Ebenezer and Mary (Allen) Abbe, bom March 17, 1720-1.

Married in Windham, Conn., May 10, 1736, ELIHU MARSH, son of Thomas Marsh of Mansfield, Conn.

He resided for a time in Mansfield, then removed to New Fairfield, and later to New Milford, where he purchased land, 1765, 1769, and 1770. His home was in the part now called Jerusalem, and he resided there until his death. He was an elder in the Strict Congregational Church of New Milford for a number of years.

From History of New Milford (Orcutt)

Settled in New Milford (CT), at the place now called Jerusalem, on Rocky River, where he resided until his decease. He officiated as the minister of the Separate Church in New Milford, and as such was of very great importance to that church, for they were not able to pay the salary of a regularly installed minister, and Mr. Marsh had an independent property of his own. Whether he ever received any salary is unknown, but he probably served them as their minister several years while living in New Fairfield. , and three years after settling in New Milford.

Elihu and Zerviah's children:

which stood here is now the town hall. It was built in 1775 by Isaac Kibbe and succeeded the church which stood on the green one-third mile to the south. There, July 8, 1741, Jonathan Edwards preached the famous sermon, "Sinners in the hands of an angry God."

The Captain's Drum

A Tradition of Enfield, April 20, 1 775

In Pilgrim land one Sabbath day

The winter lay like sheep about

The ragged pastures mullein gray;

The April sun shone in and out,

Generation 4 (cont.)

The showers swept by in fitful flocks,
And eaves ticked fast like mantel clocks.

II

And now and then a wealthy cloud
Would wear a ribbon broad and bright,
And now and then a winged crowd
Of shining azure flash in sight;
So rainbows bend and blue-birds fly
And violets show their bits of sky.

III

To Enfield church throng all the town
In quilted hood and bombazine,
In beaver hat with flaring crown
And quaint Vandyke and Victorine,
And buttoned boys in roundabout
From calyx collars blossom out.

IV

Bandanas wave their feeble fire
And footstoves tinkle up the aisle,
A gray-haired Elder leads the choir
And girls in linsey-woolsey smile.
So back to life the beings glide
Whose very graves have ebbed and died.

hundred years have waned, and yet
We call the roll, and not in vain.
For one whose flint-lock musket set
The echoes wild round Fort Duquesne,
And swelled the battle's powder smoke
Ere Revolution's thunders woke.

( east side of pedestal )

VI

Lo, Thomas Abbey answers "Here!"
Within the dull long-metre place;
That day upon the parson's ear
And trampling down his words of grace
A horseman's gallop rudely beat
Along the splashed and empty street.

VII

The rider drew his dripping rein
And then a letter wasp-nest gray
That ran: "The Concord Minute-Men
And Red-Coats had a fight to-day.
To Captain Abbey this with speed."
Ten little words to tell the deed.

VIII

The Captain read, struck out for home
The old quickstep of battle born.
Slung on once more a battered drum
That bore a painted unicorn,
Then right-about as whirls a torch
He stood before the sacred porch; -

IX

And then a murmuring of bees

Generation 4 (cont.)

Broke in upon the house of prayer,
And then a wind-song swept the trees,
And then a snarl from wolfish lair,
And then a charge of grenadiers,
And then a flight of drum-beat cheers.

X

So drum and doctrine rudely blent.
The casements rattled strange accord,
No mortal knew what either meant,
'Twas

double-drag and Holy Word.
Thus saith the drum and thus the Lord.
The Captain raised so wild a rout
He drummed the congregation out!
( north side of pedestal )

XI

The people gathered round amazed,
The soldier bared his head and spoke,
And every sentence burned and blazed
As trenchant as a sabre-stroke:

" 'Tis time to pick the flint to-day,
To sling the knapsack and away -

XII

"The Green of Lexington is red
With British Red-Coats, brothers' blood!
In rightful cause the earliest dead
Are always best beloved of God.
Mark time! Now let the march begin!
All bound for Boston, fall right in!"

XIII

Then rub-a-dub the drum jarred on,
The throbbing roll of battle beat!
"Fall in, my men!" And one by one,
They rhymed the tune with heart and feet
And so they made a Sabbath march
To glory 'neath the elm-tree arch.

XIV

The Continental line unwound
Along the church-yard's breathless sod,
And holier grew the hallowed ground
Where Virtue slept and Valor trod.
Two hundred strong that April day
They rallied out and marched away.

XV

Brigaded there at Bunker Hill
Their names are writ on Glory's page,
The brave old Captain's Sunday drill
Has drummed its way across the age.

NEHEMIAH ABBEY, son of John and Hannah ( ) Abbe, born probably in East Hartford, Conn.; died there, probably November 22, 1813.

Earliest mention of him is in deed of Januair 15, 1759, by which John Abbe conveys property to his son Nehemiah Abbe. He figured in other deeds of 1764, 1770 and 1771. (Hartford Deeds, 12, 217, 218; 13, 11, 257; 14, 349; 15, 117.) His signature is among inhabitants of East Hartford who enter a protest against taxes in 1769. (Connecticut State Archives, Towns and Lands, IX, 278b.) He served 16 days in Captain William Wadsworth's Company in 1757. He was collector in East Hartford in 1768. The 1790 Census gives Nehemiah of East Hartford one male over 21, two males under 21, five females in family. In 1800 he is recorded with 1 male and 1 female over 45, 1 male between 26 and 45, 2 females between 16 and 26 and 1 male under 10 in the family.

Married MABEL WARREN, born 1745; died September 27, 1793, aged 48. She was daughter of Edward and Mabel (Porter) Warren of East Hartford.

Civil War Union Army Officer. In the mid 1800's, he was a Washington correspondent and wrote articles for newspapers such as the New York Herald. He also worked several times as a US Army Scout in the Arizona Territory where he established the territory's first newspaper and had mining interest. With the outbreak of the Civil War, he returned east and was commissioned a Colonel in command of the 5th New Hampshire Infantry, Union Army. He soon gained a reputation as skilled leader in front of his corps, also being wounded in battles to include at Seven Pines, Antietam, Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville. On July 2, 1863, during the Battle of Gettysburg, he led a brigade in 1st Division, II Corps. His division was sent to the left flank to help stabilize it after the Confederates had begun attacking. Cross's brigade was formed on the left of the division's III Corps battle line, when he was mortally wounded while at the left of his line near the Rose Woods. He died the next day in a field hospital and body was shipped home to Lancaster, New Hampshire.
