Notes for Richard Stubbs:

Richard was captured by the Indians in Falmouth, Maine (Reg. 69:263)(the following sent the compiler from Gilbert Merrell Titcomb,1970).

In August 1746, a short distance from his home, a soldier with him named Clark was killed. During the fight, Mr. Stubbs shot in Indian Chief and wounded him, but was soon overpowered by superior numbers. The Indians took him to Quebec where he was sold to the French and imprisoned. He was 54 years old at the time and suffering from a shoulder wound. The hardships of the long journey, which took from 26 Aug. to 5 Oct. over Indian trails, must have been very severe. Most of the information about him in Coleman's "New England Captives" was taken from the diary or journal on fellow prisoner Capt. William Pote Jr., of Falmouth, Maine. His journal was smuggled out of the jail, hidden under a woman's dress. Years later, in 1890, it was found in Geneva, Switzerland, brought to this country and published. Quoting from the book by Coleman, new Casco (Falmouth) Maine, 26 August 1746.

Pote says it was 5 Oct. when "came Mr. Richard Stubbs who was taken by ye Indians at new Casco, and had his companion shot down right by his side, and he wounded in ye shoulder, he discharged his piece and wounded an Indian in ye arm" Stubbs gave Captain Pote news of his friends (in 1756 Stubbs's son Richard was an appraiser of the est. of Captain Pote) Richard Stubbs was returned 16 Aug. 1747, after a year in captivity, on the ship, Vierge-De-Grace (a prison-exchange ship), arriving in Boston Mass.

About three weeks after Mr. Stubbs was brought to the prison an Indian Chief came and demanded him; "he told Mr. Stubbs that he had wounded him in the conflict, but he had now recovered he came to let him know he freely forgave him, then he carried him before the Governor & Assembly in the court where the discourse ran up on the two men who had escaped (Dunbar and Cloutman). The French officer said 'twas the monstrous piece of ingratitude in them or any prisoner to make their escape when they were so kindly used'. Mr. Stubbs answered that it was no new thing for prisoners, especially for those closely confined to make their escape. . .and that he knew of four French officers who are prisoners in New England and had the patrol of honour allowed them, let them run away with the Sloop out of the harbour & the prisoners who remained were not the worst treated . . .the small rapportie ended the dispute and he was remanded back to prison.”

Mass. Arch. 38A:134

21 April 1747 Sgt. Trott, of new Casco with volunteers returned, after having vainly tried to overtake hostile Indian Captors of the Foster family, and stayed overnight with Mrs. Stubbs, Falmouth.

The following letter published in the Tower Gen by Charlemagne Tower, 1891 was from Richard Stubbs, reported lost on a whaling voyage, (his father was dead, this was written apparently by his wife's parents).

9 June 1716

She was born on Nov 22, 1697 in Barnstable, Barnstable, Massachusetts, USA. She died on Apr 02, 1778 in Tolland, Tolland, Connecticut, USA.

Notes for John Abbott Sr:

John Abbott, the fourth child and fourth son of Deac. Nehemiah Abbott and Abigail Lovejoy, b. of record at Andover, Mass. Nov. 4, 1697. He d. at Tolland, Conn. Nov. 25, 1779, Æ 83. He probably removed from Andover to Conn. with his older brother Abiel Abbott, a house carpenter, who m. his first wife at Windsor, Conn. in Jan. 1718. Otherwise, all of Abiel and John's siblings married and remained at Andover, Mass.

John Abbott m. 1) Jan. 31, 1720/1 prob. at Mansfield, Conn. (but is only of record at Tolland, Conn.), to Elizabeth Berry, dau. of Nathaniel Berry and Elizabeth Philbrick. She was b. at Portsmouth, NH circa 1700 and d. at Tolland Mar. 8, 1728/9, Æ 29. The original record of John and Elizabeth's marriage, in the handwriting of Shubael Stearns, Tolland's first town clerk shows he was a poor phonetic speller:

• John abit was married to Elizabeth berye [i.e., Berry] on January the thirty first daye and in the yeare one thousand seven hundred and twenty twenty one [i.e., Jan. 31, 1720/21 in the old Julian calendar].

Unfortunately, Elizabeth's maiden name was incorrectly interpreted by someone as "Berge", which has become her errant surname in all genealogies concerning her since the error was made.

John m. 2) at Tolland, Conn. on Oct. 27, 1731, Mary Lumbert of Barnstable, Mass., the widow of John Robinson, Jr. of Barnstable, dau. of Joshua Lumbert and Hopesstill Bullock of Barnstable.

She was b. at Barnstable Nov. 22, 1697 and d. at Tolland, Conn. Apr. 2, 1778, Æ 81.

The existing gravestone at Tolland for John Abbott, second wife Mary, and John's son John by first wife Elizabeth and of John junior's wife Elizabeth, reflects multiple errors. The gravestone was undoubtedly erected long after the four individuals died, probably in the 1800s when the meaning of the term "aged" was long forgotten:

- 1) the family name was Abbott vs. Abbot, albeit it took awhile for the second "t" to be consistently used by later generations;
- 2) John Abbott, Sr. was 82 years old when he died, and "aged" (Æ) 83, not 85; and
- 3) the stated "aged" of John, Jr. and wife Elizabeth are understated by one year, the age inscribed being their chronological age, not their Ætatis suæ (Æ) age.

The children of John Abbott, Sr. and first wife Elizabeth Berry, b. of record at Tolland, Conn., are:

- i. Elizabeth Abbott, b. Dec. 31, 1721, bapt. at the East Barnstable, Mass. Chh. May 14, 1732, and d. at Tolland, Conn. Dec. 17, 1782, Æ 61. She m. 1) Joseph Peck at an unknown date and place, who d. at Tolland, Conn. Apr. 19, 1741; she m. 2) July 3, 1744 at Tolland, Sylvanus (q.v.) Delano.
- ii. Sarah Abbott, b. Apr. 22, 1723; d. unmarried at Tolland Feb. 11, 1742/3, Æ 20.
- iii. John Abbott, Jr., b. Sept. 18, 1725, d. at Tolland May 17, 1776, Æ 51; m. at Tolland Jan. 21, 1747/8, Elizabeth Stearns.

The children of John Abbott, Sr. and second wife Mary Lumbert, b. of record at Tolland, Conn., are:

- iv. Joseph Adna Abbott, b. Sept. 26, 1733, d. Mar. 2, 1777 of sickness in the Continental Army at Fort George, NY, Æ 44; m. on Nov. 10, 1756 at Springfield, Mass., Lucy Parsons.
- v. Mary Abbott, b. May 8, 1737, d. at Springfield, Mass. Nov 30, 1795, Æ 59; m. by intention dated Sept. 7, 1754 at Springfield, Mass., Abner Parsons, uncle of her brother Joseph Adna Abbott's wife Lucy.

Notes for Elizabeth Berry:

Elizabeth Berry, dau. of Nathaniel Berry & Elizabeth Philbrick, was b. at Portsmouth, NH circa 1700, in that part of Portsmouth formerly the Parish of Greenland, since 1721 the separate town of Greenland. She d. at Tolland, Conn. Mar. 8, 1728/9, Æ 29 (g.s.). Although both the original town record and her gravestone say she died in the singular year of 1728, the writer has adopted the view that the year of her death was actually 1728/9, as such date would have been written twenty-three years before the modern Gregorian calendar was finally adopted in 1752 by Great Britain.

Elizabeth m. on Jan. 31, 1720/1, prob. at Mansfield, Conn., but is only recorded at Tolland, Conn., to John Abbott. He was b. at Andover, Mass. Nov. 4, 1697 and d. at Tolland Nov. 25, 1779, Æ 83.

The original handwritten town record of Elizabeth's marriage, in the apparent handwriting of Shubael Stearns, the first town clerk who the record shows was a very poor phonetic speller, states:

"John abit was married to Elizabeth berye [i.e., Berie, Berry] on January the thirty first daye and in the yeare one thousand seven hundred and twenty; twenty one"

Unfortunately, Elizabeth's maiden name was incorrectly interpreted by someone as "Berge", which has become her errant surname in all genealogies concerning her since the error was made.

Notes for Ammi Ruhamah Faulkner:

He moved from Andover to Acton, Mass., (now South Acton) and purchased, in 1733, the place still (1937) in the Faulkner family. The house was originally the Garrison House, built as a refuge for the settlers in times of Indian raids but there is no record that it was ever used for that purpose. He built the mills which, for over two centuries, have been known as the Faulkner Mills. His wife, Hannah, was the daughter of James and Hannah Abbott Ingalls. Both are buried in Woodlawn Cemetery, Acton.

[Historical Sketch of the Faulkner House by Robert Nylander]

He settled right into Acton's town affairs after moving there in 1738. In May of 1738 he was chosen to the committee to settle Acton's first minister, Rev. John Swift, and to arrange his salary. Sixteen years later, when Parson Swift's salary had to be reassessed because of fluctuating prices, he was also on the committee to settle that. Although he entered into town affairs only as a selectman for two years, he helped Acton's early growth by operating the mills at Acton's commercial center - Mill corner is S. Acton was then called. Shortly after he purchased the place, he added a grist mill to the already existing fulling and saw mills.
