Notes for Dieter Damm Sr:

Dieter is listed as Deeder Dahm on the 1850 Census; and as Deater Dahm on the 1860 Census; and as Dieter Dahm on the 1880 Census. His cemetery records reflect Dieter Damm, Sr. John and Dieter were either already married, married in route or married right after entering America. They are listed as head of household on the 1850 census Greene County, Illinois. Their wives and children are also listed. A note of interest regarding the Census: Names were spelled the way they sounded to the census taker. The German accent obviously created problems for some. On the 1850 census, Dieter's name is spelled "Deeder". His wife is listed as Josephine and her name actually was "Jacobena". Cemetery records in Greene County, Illinois clear up these questions. I suspect the original German version of the surname was "Damm".
